"I'm a flower and like all women am a part of mother nature. We have the power to heal everything in society. We can make the world a better place with our love and care." -Blond Jenny

Blond Jenny is a painter, photographer, and filmmaker. Her work is a mix of storytelling through her alter ego, cartoon character Blond Jenny, her self-portraits, found objects from nature, 360-degree photos and videos.

Her recent work is focused on nature, women's rights, and American politics. She uses video and self-photography with mixed media to expand the range of expression in her photography. She continues to develop techniques so she can challenge the boundaries of her expression. She likes to explore new media and play with it as part of her overall story. Her intent is to show that with nature or flowers we can be more connected and happy. She has found freedom in nature and continues to explore the path between life, death, and beyond.

Recent exhibits include Pow(h)er, Benjamin J. Dineen III and Dennis C.
